STRATEGIC THINKING

1. Learner®

What Is Learner?

People with strong Learner talents constantly strive to learn and improve. The process of learning is just as important to them as the knowledge they gain. The steady and deliberate journey from ignorance to competence energizes Learners. The thrill of learning new facts, beginning a new subject and mastering an important skill excites people with dominant Learner talents. Learning builds these people's confidence. Having Learner as a dominant theme does not necessarily motivate someone to become a subject-matter expert or strive for the respect that accompanies earning a professional or academic credential. The outcome of learning is less significant than the "getting there."

It's very likely that you endorse the importance of acquiring additional knowledge and gaining new skills. You regard education as an ongoing activity.

Driven by your talents, you often spend considerable time examining the details underpinning an idea. Rather than rush through your research, you typically stick with it until you are convinced everything makes sense.

Instinctively, you may gather historical facts or artifacts — that is, pictures, tools, books, artwork, correspondence, or documents. Perhaps you wait to determine whether this information is useful. Your interest in history might have no purpose other than to answer your own questions. Maybe you are drawn to the past and its people. In some ways, the future starts to take shape in your mind if you rummage through your collection of historic truths and objects.

Chances are good that you might have a particular desire for knowledge. Perhaps you feel it makes little sense to skim through a book and read only the highlights. You might want to delve more deeply into intriguing subjects than most people. Maybe you love to gather all kinds of information.

By nature, you may be attracted to assignments that demand original and inventive thinking. In some cases, you track down new ideas, facts, or data. Your out-of-the-box thinking might challenge some people to abandon, or at the very least to question, specific conventional practices. When you cause one or two of them to suggest options, maybe their need to protect the status quo will be replaced by a desire to gather more information.

How Learner Blends With Your Other Top Five Strengths

LEARNER + SELF-ASSURANCE

Even though you are confident about what you have within you, your mind is open to and aware of new things on the outside.

LEARNER + ACHIEVER

When you're working on a task, you really want to get it done. When you're exposed to something new, you really want to understand it.

LEARNER + FOCUS

In many cases, your interests shape your intentions. But there are also times when your intentions shape your interests.

LEARNER + COMMAND

You are a curious student with a mind open to new information. You are a courageous student who challenges and debates to clarify.

Apply Your Learner to Succeed

Develop expertise in areas that interest you the most.

- ☐ Regularly study new topics and skills. Challenge yourself to learn about complex ideas, programs or experiences others might not want to explore.
- ☐ Refine how you develop your expertise. For example, you might learn best by beginning a new project; if so, find new tasks or projects to start. Or you might learn best by teaching; if so, find ways to present to others.

INFLUENCING

2. Self-Assurance®

What Is Self-Assurance?

Self-Assurance is similar to self-confidence. People with strong Self-Assurance talents have faith in their strengths and abilities. They know that they can take risks, meet new challenges, stake claims and, most importantly, deliver. But Self-Assurance is more than just self-confidence. People with dominant Self-Assurance talents have confidence in both their abilities and their judgment. They have an inner sense of certainty that affirms their direction and decisions.

Why Your Self-Assurance Is Unique

These Strengths Insights are personalized based on your CliftonStrengths results.

LearnerSelf-Assurance*Achiever*Focus*Command

Because of your strengths, you sometimes dive into challenging situations because you trust yourself to survive or excel. Maybe you know that you have the talent to deal with obstacles or hazards as you encounter them. Launching new ventures might thrill you. Tackling impossible goals might energize you. Stepping out of your comfort zone into unfamiliar territory might stimulate you.

It's very likely that you can prepare people to encounter danger, bear pain, or withstand adversity. You fortify others so they grow stronger.

Driven by your talents, you feel fulfilled by the steady improvements you have made as an individual throughout your life. You probably have confidence in your talents, knowledge, and skills.

Chances are good that you may see particular value in the proverb "Nothing ventured, nothing gained." Instead of choosing the easy and obvious path, you might challenge yourself to surpass your original goals. With courage and perseverance, you attempt to produce good results. Rather than ask for guarantees of success or financial rewards, you might choose to boldly forge ahead toward your desired goals.

By nature, you occasionally slow down to talk about large-scale ideas with your teammates. Maybe you wish you could find time to do this more often because it is so informative.

How Self-Assurance Blends With Your Other Top Five Strengths

SELF-ASSURANCE + LEARNER

Even though you are confident about what you have within you, your mind is open to and aware of new things on the outside.

SELF-ASSURANCE + ACHIEVER

Your desire and drive to get things done originates deep within you, and so does your confidence in your ability.

SELF-ASSURANCE + FOCUS

When you concentrate on the things that you are most certain of, you are not likely to be distracted or dissuaded.

SELF-ASSURANCE + COMMAND

Your presence is often a quiet confidence, but it can erupt into an assertive force if someone threatens or resists you.

Apply Your Self-Assurance to Succeed

Lead by taking calculated risks.

- ☐ Embrace the confidence you have in making decisions, but review them and their outcomes to ensure high quality. You will always benefit from looking back and assessing what you might do differently next time.
- ☐ Trust your abilities, judgment and talents, but gather enough information to make informed choices. Find the right balance between confidence and continuous improvement.

EXECUTING

3. Achiever®

What Is Achiever?

Achievers have a constant need for attainment. They have an internal fire burning inside them. It pushes them to do and achieve more. People with strong Achiever talents feel as if every day starts at zero. By the end of the day, they must accomplish something meaningful to feel good about themselves. And “every day” means every single day: workdays, weekends, holidays and even vacations. If the day passes without some form of achievement, no matter how small, Achievers feel dissatisfied. After finishing a challenging project, they rarely seek with a reward of a rest or an easy assignment. While they appreciate recognition for past achievements, their motivation lies in striving toward the next goal on the horizon.

Why Your Achiever Is Unique

These Strengths Insights are personalized based on your CliftonStrengths results.

LearnerSelf-Assurance*Achiever*Focus*Command

Instinctively, you motivate your friends with your passion for moving ideas from the talking stage to the action stage. Your dedication to various projects rallies numerous individuals to work alongside you.

By nature, you ordinarily take time and exert extra effort to comprehend what you are reading. You probably refuse to rush through written material. Why? You likely intend to commit to memory as many facts and concepts as possible.

Chances are good that you welcome opportunities to methodically examine details in data. You notice when a series of numbers repeats itself. Your hours of mental labor enable you to spot important pieces of information that most people overlook.

Driven by your talents, you can mentally zero in on tasks for hours at a time when you have a goal to reach. When the assignment demands extra time, you would be wise to honor your body's natural rhythms. In other words, if you are a “morning person,” work in the morning. Work in the afternoon if that is when you hit your stride. Work in the evening if that is when you think better. Work around midnight after everyone has gone to bed if you are someone who usually stays up very late.

It's very likely that you use your mental and physical energy for hours when the situation demands such effort. You generally persevere and push yourself to keep working on assignments until you finish them. You refuse to quit until you reach your goal.

How Achiever Blends With Your Other Top Five Strengths

ACHIEVER + LEARNER

When you're working on a task, you really want to get it done. When you're exposed to something new, you really want to understand it.

ACHIEVER + SELF-ASSURANCE

Your desire and drive to get things done originates deep within you, and so does your confidence in your ability.

ACHIEVER + FOCUS

Your goal orientation gives direction to your diligence and helps you prioritize the tasks that you need to accomplish first.

ACHIEVER + COMMAND

Sometimes, resistance and opposition hinder accomplishment. On those occasions, you can apply a forceful, emotional presence.

Apply Your Achiever to Succeed

Use a scoring system to keep track of all achievements.

- ☐ Display metrics that matter in a place where you can see them often. The visual measurement of your productivity will encourage you to keep making progress toward your goals.
- ☐ Put personal achievements on your scoring system. This will help you direct your busy energy toward family and friends and work.

EXECUTING

4. Focus®

What Is Focus?

People with strong Focus talents prioritize and then take action. They set goals that serve as their compass, helping them determine priorities and make alterations when needed to get back on course. Their Focus is powerful because it forces them to filter; they instinctively evaluate each action before taking it to decide whether it will help them reach their goal. In the end, strong Focus talents push them to be efficient. They are extremely valuable team members because their single-mindedness enhances the speed and quality of their performance and keeps the team on track.

Why Your Focus Is Unique

These Strengths Insights are personalized based on your CliftonStrengths results.

LearnerSelf-Assurance*Achiever*Focus*Command

Instinctively, you sometimes set goals for the week. These might prevent you from being drawn off course by each day's demands.

It's very likely that you pinpoint what you need to accomplish. Then you give it your undivided attention. Few people can match your natural powers of concentration.

Driven by your talents, you may occasionally help establish weekly performance goals or production targets.

Because of your strengths, you may be skilled and/or knowledgeable about specific issues, subjects, processes, or programs. Perhaps you combine this expertise with your ability to pinpoint goals you might want to reach in the coming weeks, months, years, or decades.

Chances are good that you sometimes work hard to reach specific personal or professional goals. These include, but are not limited to, earning a pay raise, winning a promotion, receiving a degree, acquiring something you value, or completing a certification program. Perhaps challenges related to status motivate you more than others do.

When you concentrate on the things that you are most certain of, you are not likely to be distracted or dissuaded.

FOCUS + ACHIEVER

Your goal orientation gives direction to your diligence and helps you prioritize the tasks that you need to accomplish first.

FOCUS + COMMAND

Because you are direct, it is clear how you're feeling. Because you are goal-oriented, it is clear what direction you're headed.

Apply Your Focus to Succeed

Decide what you must do, prioritize and then act.

- ☐ Say no to projects or tasks that do not align with your end goal. While you can't always say no, when you can, it will help you concentrate on your most important priorities.
- ☐ Trust your internal compass to make necessary adjustments as you work toward a goal. You have an instinct that ensures things will not distract you as you work to achieve the desired outcome.

INFLUENCING

5. Command®

What Is Command?

People with strong Command talents naturally take charge. They see what needs to be done and are willing to speak up. Confrontation does not frighten them; rather, they understand that it is the first step toward resolution. They need things to be clear among people, and they will challenge others to be realistic and honest. Their talent pushes them to take risks. At times, those with strong Command talents may intimidate others. And while some may resent this talent, others often willingly hand them the reins. People are drawn toward those who take a stand and are willing to lead.

Why Your Command Is Unique

Command

Because of your strengths, you are unsentimental and not often swayed by emotional arguments or passionate pleas. People are likely to describe you as quite realistic and practical.

Instinctively, you sometimes feel comfortable sharing your original ideas with groups. Perhaps they welcome your innovations. Maybe they realize you suggest novel ways of doing things they would never have considered.

By nature, you sometimes sense you are a bit overzealous making a name for yourself, advancing your career, or promoting your projects. Perhaps you question your sense of priority when work, studies, or some other activity consumes the majority of your time. Perhaps you wonder if your zeal distresses or displeases certain individuals.

Chances are good that you empower people with your air of certitude — that is, confidence. Your very presence reassures them that they indeed are quite ready and capable of tackling assignments, spearheading projects, or playing key positions on a team.

It's very likely that you may be the person to whom group members turn for original thoughts. Perhaps ideas pop into your consciousness as soon as someone describes a problem or an opportunity.

Apply Your Command to Succeed

Learn to predict situations when others need your leadership.

- ☐ Let others come to you when they need someone to be strong for them. Ask them if they want you to intervene or just work through a situation alongside them.
- ☐ Ask people for their opinions. Sometimes your candor is intimidating, causing others to avoid offending you because they fear your reaction. If necessary, explain that you are blunt because you are uncomfortable repressing your thoughts — not because you want to frighten others into silence.
